

update - 24th October 2024 - We still have a number of young kittens in our care who will be ready to go to their forever homes over the next few weeks. We generally like to home them in pairs when that works for the kittens involved as it means they are usually a source of comfort and company as they settle into their forever home and beyond. We also want all our kittens to be able to explore a very safe outdoor environment.

So if you are ideally home part of the day and have had experience of kittens before as well of course as having a secure / cat safe garden and being very well away from any busy roads please email us at catrescuechippenham@gmail.com with your name, address and postcode as well as some details such as if you have any other pets, young children, home part of the day and of course are well away from any busy roads to register your interest.
